

First Northern Ireland ATA Training Centre

TTS has become the first training centre in Northern Ireland to achieve accreditation from IMI Awards to deliver Automotive Technician Accreditation for Panel Technicians in the Accident Repair Industry.

TTS achieved this after a rigorous assessment process carried out by Andy Frounks of IMI Awards. The three candidates that took part in the two day assessments were Jason Moorhead and Matthew Bell from Wrights Accident Repair Centre in Dromore and Matthew Gorman from Lindsay Cars Accident Repair Centre in Lisburn.

"This accreditation is a great achievement for us," says Michael Kerr, Business Development Director of TTS. "It is a welcome addition to our new Body Repair Training Facility and now allows us to offer training to experienced technicians as well as apprentices. "
